Old Settlers' Day

February 22nd

REV J. W. DINSMORE

Speaker of the Day

SPLENDID PROGRAM

Basket Lunch

BASE BALL

Feb. 22, the day we celebrate, sometimes called "Campbell Day, but known especially, as OLD SETTLERS' DAY, is to be observed this year according to the same general plan as has prevailed ever since its inception, and the interest already manifested augurs well for a large attendance and a general re-union of Campbellites scattered over the county and neighboring ones for a "feast of reason and flow of soul", induced by oratory, music and sociability around the laden tables, with athletics to complete the day's attractions.

The morning exercises at the grammar school auditorium will begin at 10 o'clock, presided over by Dr. C. N. Cooper, chairman of the day. There will be patriotic music and a baritone solo by Amos Williams of San Jose, in addition to the main address of the day which will be delivered by Dr. J. W. Dinsmore, well known as an unusually able and attractive speaker. No man in the county is better able to present an instructive and inspiring address appropriate to these days of reconstruction after the world war, and those who miss it will have much to regret. The afternoon program at the same place will be entirely of an entertaining nature and will be rendered by artists who are already favorites with Campbell audiences as well as in San Jose and elsewhere.

The concert program is to be preceded by a Roosevelt Memorial exercise on the high school lawn at 1:30 o'clock, and followed by a base ball game,—the fats versus the leans.

The provision for lunch at noon is even better than usual. It is hoped that very many, both of our own people and those from elsewhere will come prepared to enjoy a basket lunch together as has always been the custom, more especially in the earlier years when this was one of the conspicuously pleasant features of the day, often as many as 500 persons gathering around the tables in the Ainsley cannery. This time accommodations have been provided in the Odd Fellows hall where baskets may be left in safety and tables reserved if desired. A committee will be in charge of the hall and kitchen and a fire kept up for those who may wish to use it. Coffee, with milk and sugar will be furnished free.

For the many who prefer not, to be bothered with picnic lunch, a hot and wholesome dinner will be served, cafeteria style, at the Methodist church, by the Ladies' Aid Society, who announce that they can provide for 300 hungry people, with macaroni, beans, scalloped potatoes, salad, pie, etc., at 5c each. Coffee free, the same as with the picnic lunch.

Altogether it would seem that any who have enjoyed this occasion in former years will miss none of the familiar attractions and may find some they never found before.

High School Report.

The third one of the drives, the "old clothes drive," closed at one o'clock last Friday afternoon. The students responded generously with clothes which will be given to the Belgians. The variety consisted of anything wearable. The faculty based its decision on value and quantity and finally decided that the members of the advanced class were the winners this time. There will be no drive next week. The Freshmen had their first party last Friday evening at the beautiful home of W. E. Hyde at Cupertino. They spent the first part of the evening playing games appropriate for Freshmen and the latter part feasting on delicious refreshments. Hints of Valentine's day were carried out through the evening. This was evidently "party week."

The Juniors gathered at the home of Lois Andrews for a good time, Saturday evening, Feb. 15th. The occasion, St. Valentine's Day, after playing several games, delicious refreshments were served.

(We will be closed Saturday, Feb. 22.)

THAT DINNER on Old Settlers' Day.

Suppose it is to be a tamale loaf, or tamale pie—you will want some of our "extra cream" corn meal (7c a lb.); and Gebhardt's Chili Powder (20c a bottle); and a few of those large, black olives (20c a pint).

If it is to be baked beans—then some of those smooth, re-cleaned and tender-baking small white beans at 15c; and perhaps a can of Del Monte Tomato Sauce at 10c.

Or if you choose baked macaroni—then our short-cut macaroni at 12½, and that sharp cheese at 40c, and perhaps that same Tomato Sauce, and some add an epicurean touch with that same Chili Powder.

There will be salad, of course—then some of those extra good potatoes (3½c a lb.), or apples (30c a doz.), or shrimps (20c a can). That same short-cut macaroni is splendid for salad, also.

For fresh fruits—Pearmain Apples at 30c a doz.; ripe, juicy oranges at 55c; and the best bananas to be found in the market, at 10c a lb.

The good things mentioned are only suggestive, designed to set your mental processes in operation. You will think of much more. Remember, too, that supplies have an awkward habit of running low at the last minute. For your own interests, order early. You'll be hungry next Saturday.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUTS DISPATCH BEARERS

George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information, has addressed the following letter to the Boy Scouts of America in appreciation of their services as dispatch bearers for the government:

"Dear Mr. West—I wish to take this opportunity to express to you my appreciation for the assistance the Boy Scouts of America have been to the committee in its work.

"Public opinion stands recognized as a vital part of national defense, a mighty force in national attack. The strength of our firing line is not in trench warfare alone, but has its source in the morale of the civilian population from which the fighting force is drawn.

"As dispatch bearers the boy scouts have carried the message of our president to more than five million homes, and as a result of the postcards enclosed, the committee has filled nearly two million requests for pamphlets on the vital questions of the war.

"The battle for public opinion has been won. There is no organized disloyalty. Individual disloyalty has been isolated and marked down. We have unity in the land today unexampled in the history of this or any other nation.

"The boy scouts have had their part in winning this battle and they can do much to help maintain the unity so essential to victory."

SCOUTS IN TRANSPORT WORK.

That scouts can be relied upon for any patriotic duty is shown by this letter from the general superintendent of the United States army transport service. If there is any place where the order to "allow only Americans on guard tonight" should be repeated, it is on the docks from which our boys board the ships for France. Here is the letter to national headquarters from Lieut. Col. F. P. Jackson:

"In reference to telephone conversation regarding boy scouts, I have two employed in the supplies division, army transport service, as messengers. Their duties as messengers require them very often to carry official documents of a confidential nature from the various government offices, piers, etc. I believe boy scouts give more satisfactory services, due to their training, and can be relied upon to carry out strictly any instructions given them."

MADE A TOWNFUL OF SCOUTS.

The far-reaching effect of a commonplace act of kindness has often astonished a scout, who as a matter of course does a good turn whenever he finds an opportunity.

The scout executive of Scranton, Pa., became interested in a boy in a neighboring town who was at a hospital for a serious bone operation.

He spent much time with the boy, and when he passed his twelfth birthday in the hospital, the scout executive gave him the tenderfoot test.

Returning to his home town, a scout, this boy organized a troop and now has the whole town enthusiastic about scouting. "So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

A PRAYER

Simple Law of Life for All

Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen ounces a pound, and one hundred cents a dollar. Help me to live so that I may lie down at night without a gun under my pillow—unhaunted by the faces of those whom I have wronged.

Help me to earn my meal ticket on the square and in conformance with the Golden Rule.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted coin—to the rustle of unholy skirts.

May I be blind to the faults of my fellows and see my own clearly. Guide me so that I may look across the dinner table at my wife and have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young—that I may laugh with the children. Make me sympathetic—that I may be considerate of the old.

When comes the day of drawn shades and fragrant flowers, of quiet footsteps and hushed voices, when the wheels crunch on the gravel walk and the neighbors whisper, "How natural he looks!"—make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here lies a Man!"—George Lee, in Popular Magazine.

Soldiers Overseas Safe From Winter Hardships—Have Supply of Clothes

Mothers, sisters and sweethearts in America need not worry about protection of their soldiers in Europe against the rigors of winter, writes a Paris correspondent. The quarter-master's corps specialists in France declare that the boys are better equipped than the majority of them ever were in civilian life.

Each soldier has two pairs of heavy mail-climbed and dubbed shoes which are impervious to water, five pairs of wool socks, three suits wool underwear, two complete wool uniforms, two wool O. D. flannel shirts, one short but heavy overcoat, trench style, and one pair of wool knit spiral puttees ten feet long. The quarter-master's corps estimates that the average soldier in campaign wears out one pair of trousers every two months, and makes provision on this basis, although the normal life of a pair of breeches is six months. Every soldier has also an overseas cap that has a felt protector to pull down over his ears. He is not allowed to wear the old issue of campaign hat that his folks at home are used to seeing. He has wool gloves and one-finger leather mittens over them and each soldier is provided with at least three blankets and a waterproof slicker or raincoat.

In addition to all this every soldier on outdoor duty has a leather waistcoat to wear beneath his overcoat. This leather waistcoat is newly issued and much admired.

Public's Fancy for Songs Is Very Hard to Forecast

A photoplay magazine says that a subscriber complained because the editor did not keep its readers informed about coming song hits. The editor answers that any man or woman who could do this could collect from $50,000 to $100,000 a year from publishers by keeping them supplied with this advance information. Nothing, says the editor, can boom a song into popularity. He instances a song on which the publishers spent $20,000 in ingenious advertising, but it wouldn't "take." The public's fancy for a song is one of the most uncertain things imaginable.—Outlook.

Idle Soldiers in Europe Require Entertainment and Diversion More Than Ever

The close of the war does not mean that the need for theatrical entertainers to entertain American troops in France has ended or even diminished. On the contrary, it is greater than ever. It is obvious that many American soldiers will remain in Europe for a long time. With idle time on their hands, lacking the excitement and exaltation of battle, they must have clean, wholesome entertainment.

So the Young Men's Christian association and America's Over There Theater league, which have co-operated in sending entertainment units abroad, are now expanding their efforts. James Forbes, the playwright, accepts applications and organizes units.

"From July 30 to November 9 we sent 102 entertainers abroad," Mr. Forbes announces. "We will continue to send as many as we can until the last American soldier is out of France. Now that the fighting is over, they need amusement and diversion more than ever, and they keep urging and urging us to send more players."

Hitherto the performers sent abroad have been practically all vaudeville players. There were several reasons for this. Transportation was limited, so the traveling companies had to be small and they could not carry the scenery and costumes necessary for dramatic productions.

From now on, however, Mr. Forbes says the soldiers will have drama as well as vaudeville.

American Indians Aided and Profited by the World War

The American Indian by enlisting in the army and navy, by subscribing liberally to the Liberty loans, by increasing the production of foodstuffs on Indian lands and by contributions to relief agencies greatly aided the United States and the allies in winning the war, declared Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, in his annual report. Mr. Sells said that out of 33,000 eligible for military duty, more than 6,500 Indians entered the army, 1,000 enlisted in the navy and 500 more in other war work. More than 6,000 of the enlistments were voluntary. Liberty bonds were bought, Commissioner Sells said, until Indians now hold the equivalent of one $50 bond for every man, woman and child of their race in the nation. Through it all, Commissioners Sells said, a new view of life and his responsibilities is coming to the Indian.

RAILROAD PROBLEM QUESTION OF STUBBORN FACT, NOT OF THEORY

McAdoo Favors a Five-Year Test Period in Which to Prove Which Is Better, Government Ownership or Private Ownership Wisely Regulated Under Superior Authority of Federal Government.

By W. G. McADOO.

The railroad problem is today one of the most, if not the most, important and vital domestic questions facing the American people. Our welfare and prosperity depend on its proper solution. Therefore it is peculiarly necessary that the facts regarding it be understood clearly; that it be settled not along partisan political lines nor in deference to the prejudices of any class; that the American people face the issue boldly and dispose of it as courageously as they have always done with every basic problem they have had to meet.

Let me say immediately that I have no pet theory to advance in discussing the settlement of the railroad question. At the present time I am neither an advocate nor an opponent of government ownership. But while my tendency is against government ownership and in favor of a wisely regulated private ownership under strong federal control, I am frank to say that I am not afraid of government ownership should experience, gained by an adequate test, prove that it is the best solution of the problem. We are living in a new day in America; the world is throwing off old shackles; we must do what seems best in view of ascertained facts regardless of preconceptions. I favor a five-year test period because I believe its results will tell us convincingly which is better—government ownership or private ownership wisely and adequately regulated under the superior authority of the federal government.

Calls Attention to Problem.

The recent suggestion I made to the congress for such a test under peace conditions has at least served to concentrate attention on the problem. Many of the attacks on the plan plainly have been dictated by selfish interests; others just as plainly are due to misunderstanding.

The suggestion most generally advanced by the opposition is that the roads be continued under government operation for the twenty-one months' period after the war, as provided by the present federal control act, and that during that time remedial legislation (there is an utter lack of agreement on the details of such legislation) be enacted to return the roads to their private owners.

There are two reasons why such a course seems to me impossible; first, the roads cannot be operated successfully under the present act for twenty-one months with the prospect of their return to their owners at the end of that time approaching nearer every day; and second, no adequate and fair remedial legislation can be obtained within that time in view of the political situation, and the lack of crystallization of the thought of the nation as to what is the best permanent solution. In discussing these two points, I must be frank, for the American people are entitled to frankness. This is their problem, and they are going to settle it sooner or later whether certain interests want them to or not.

The most serious obstacle to going on with the present system of federal control under existing limitations while the congress tries to work out remedial legislation is that of morale. Some purposely blind people appear to think this an idle argument, put forward to bolster up a plan. They do not know the situation. "No man can serve two masters."

Face Stubborn Fact.

The railroad officials and employees of the United States are only human. If they see the end of federal control rapidly approaching, with their positions and their future the constant subject of partisan political controversy, and with an entirely different system of control, which will vitally affect each individual employee, about to go in effect they naturally cannot work with undivided thought and at the highest point of efficiency; they will be thinking inevitably of the interests of the private owners whose employees they will soon become, and they will pay less and less attention to the government officials operating the roads. Where the interests of the private owners and of the government clash, as they unavoidably will in many cases, employees will hesitate which interest to serve. Confusion and lack of efficiency are bound to result. This is not theory; this is a stubborn fact that must be faced. Already signs of the difficulty are beginning to appear. With other forms of industry this might not be so serious, but the prosperity and even the lives of millions of Americans depend upon the discipline and efficiency of the American railroad machine.

Then, too, were the effort made to continue the present control under existing legislation, the railroads, from a physical standpoint, might stand still or even deteriorate during the twenty-one months' period. Without the co-operation of the railroad corporations, it is difficult under the present law to carry forward improvements or to obtain needed equipment. Already many of the railroads are resisting purchases of necessary equipment for their account. Many of the necessary improvements, such as joint terminals, while of great benefit to the public, are not relished by some railroad corporations for competitive and therefore selfish reasons. Such improvements would result in great economies, without which it probably would be impossible to reduce passenger or freight rates during the twenty-one months' period. It is impossible to carry forward an adequate program of improvements and to demonstrate those operative economies which will cheapen transportation in a shorter period than five years.

Must Keep Out of Politics.

I would prefer not to mention politics in connection with this problem, because primarily it is an economic question. But we must not be blind. The American people have been discussing the railroads for generations; almost every man in public life has gone on record on some phase of the subject. In 1920 there will be a presidential election. It is idle to suppose that under such conditions it will be possible during this or the next congress to secure calm and deliberate consideration of the ultimate solution of the problem, much less a fair and adequate permanent settlement. This vital question must not be settled in the heat or passion of partisan politics; it must be dealt with in the calm of an inter-presidential election period.

Some of the opponents of the suggested five-year extension of federal control appear to do so on the ground that the operating revenues during the year 1918 will be insufficient to pay the rentals guaranteed to the owners. They forget that most of the wage increases granted to employees took effect January 1, 1918, whereas the increased passenger and freight rates did not go into effect until six months later. If increased freight and passenger rates had gone into effect January 1, 1918, at the same time as the wage increases, there would have been no deficit. They also forget that the government took over the roads when they were completely paralyzed and when the greatest congestion of traffic in their history was upon them. It cost the government millions of dollars to clear up the congestion and get the railroads running again efficiently. They also forget that blizzard followed blizzard, and that it cost much money to overcome their effects. They forget, too, that the price of coal, of steel, and of other supplies was far above normal during the past year. These added expenses all would have had to be met had the roads continued under private control, and to pay for them, rates would have had to be increased. Private operation the past year would have failed utterly and the deficit would have been greater perhaps than under government management.

Economies Can Be Effectuated.

Under peace conditions, and with a period of five years of federal control assured, it should be possible to maintain existing wages and working conditions and to effect such economies, that reductions in rates, both passenger and freight, ought to follow within a reasonable time. Unquestionably economies can be effected under unified control that cannot be practiced under diversified control. Already the extra charge of one-half cent a mile for riding in sleeping cars, imposed as a war measure, has been removed, and other restrictions enforced by the war are rapidly disappearing.

Unfortunately some of the opposition to the proposed five-year extension is based on dissatisfaction with service given the public during the war. It is argued that conditions have been bad, although this is not true. It can be stated as a fact, which cannot be successfully contradicted, that service has been greatly improved un-

Salute Brother Officer Even Though Bathing

Boston, Mass.—"Salute your brother officers even though they be in the bathtub," declared Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards in commenting on the failure of officers in the Northeastern department to salute. "The salute," General Edwards said, "is a manifestation of a man's own self-respect. It is an evidence of discipline."

Under federal control, in spite of the tremendous demands that the war needs have imposed. Here again it is forgotten apparently that the railroads were placed under government control for the purpose of winning the war against the German autocracy. The first duty was to move troops and war supplies. I have yet to hear a sound criticism of the manner in which that pressing war need was met. Millions of soldiers were moved safely and expeditiously to the seaboard, and from camp to camp. Foodstuffs, munitions and other supplies were rushed to ships at express-train speed. The American railroads during the past year have functioned for the war purpose.

But even in the conduct of ordinary business, the record made by the railroads shines by comparison with the record of private control in previous years when considered from the standpoint of important traffic. During the fall of 1918, there was practically no congestion anywhere and we were still at war. Remember the congestion on the railroads in the crop-moving seasons of 1916 and 1917. Toward the end of 1916 conditions became so bad that the interstate commerce commission made an investigation. As a result, Commissioner McChord filed a report in which he said that "mills have shut down, prices have advanced, perishable articles of great value have been destroyed, and hundreds of carloads of food products have been delayed in reaching their natural markets." Also that "long delays in transit have been the rule rather than the exception, and the operations of established industrial activities have been uncertain and difficult."

Became Simple Matter.

The accommodation of passengers in peace times, and the proper attention to the transportation of ordinary freight, become a comparatively simple matter once the larger questions have been disposed of. No practical, just and experienced man can honestly argue that government operation per se has caused bad service. Already needed trains are being restored; crowded conditions are being remedied; rules made necessary by the war are being done away with.

I touch on such questions briefly in order that there may be no beclouding of the issue by the injection of false premises. No disaccommodation will result to the traveling or shipping public by the extension of the period of federal control. The question merely is whether wise and well considered remedial legislation for the return of the roads to private control can be obtained under existing conditions within twenty-one months, and whether, even if that were possible, the roads could be operated successfully, economically and satisfactorily pending the discussion by the congress and the country, and especially with the 1920 presidential campaign approaching.

Neither contingency being possible in my judgment, I see no escape from the conclusion that the period of federal control must be extended for five years, so that an adequate test of unified operation may be secured under peace, not war, conditions, and necessary improvements to terminals and other facilities be made, free from partisan political influences, or the railroads must be restored to private control in the near future to take their chances under the old laws and conditions which governed them prior to the assumption of control by the government.

An Old One Revised
This arrives, among other humor, from the front:

An Irish soldier applies for leave, three weeks after the termination of a previous furlough.

"You're not entitled to leave for at least six months," says his captain, sternly. "What reason have you for asking for it now?"

"Ah, captain," replies the private, "it's me anxiety 't' see me wife an' children."

"It is, is it?" replied the captain.

"Yes, sir."

"What would you say if I told you that I've had a letter from your wife concerning your conduct when you were last away on leave? Suppose I told you that she wrote me that you were drunk all the time you were home and that she didn't want you back there for another year?"

"Well, sir," said the private, after a pause, "av I'm t' shpake t' ye as soldier to officer, I've nothin' t' all t' say, av I c'd shpake as man t' man, 'twould be differ'n't."

"Well, then, as man to man, what have to say?"

"Only this, captain, dear, that you and I re th' two bloomiest liars in th' British army, 'fr I have no wife."

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

It salivates! It makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

Only Thing to Do
George Washington Jones, late of Atlanta, was making his first trip frontward on a supply wagon—with not much farther to go—when, from the side of the road, a camouflaged American battery broke forth thunderously, sending a few 300-pound tokens over the line to Fritz. The ground trembled from the salvo, but not any more than George, as he jumped from high seat to the road.

The American artillery officer in charge of the battery crossed over the road.

"Scared?" he demanded.

"Well," George said, "Ah was slightly agitated at first. Ah suddenly was. But keep right on. Dat's the only way to win this wah—fish dem guns."—Stars and Stripes, France.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.—Adv.

Curtiss Is Credited With Originating Hydroplane

The idea of the hydroplane was suggested in patent specifications by Gugo Matullath of New York, 1899, but it had its practical origin in Glenn Curtiss, who added floats to the airplane with which he was experimenting over Lake Keuka in 1908. These were placed under each wing, so that in case of accident the machine would not sink. Langelin and others had made their experimental flights over bodies of water for the same reasons. Probably the first to make the floats an integral part of the machine was Fabre, who on March 28, 1910, made the first flight with a practical hydroplane at Martignes, on the Seine. Curtiss soon abandoned floats and built boat bodies, and for this accomplishment he received the Aero Club of America trophy in 1911.

THE PENALTY IS DEATH

That is the price you will pay for neglecting Catarrh. Whether you are suffering with catarrh of the nose and throat, stomach, bowels, or other organs, the danger is real and must not be ignored. A catarrhal condition never cures itself. On the contrary, it gets worse. It poisons the blood, saps the vitality, weakens the system, reduces the power of resistance. Complications, always ultimately fatal in results, are sure to develop from neglected catarrh.

Get well. You can. It is your duty. You can just as well be free from this dreaded scourge, Catarrh, be strong, healthy, happy, as to be sick, suffering and dread-ful of the end.

The remedy to which more thousands have pinned their faith and found relief is PER-UNA. For forty-six years it has been the standard treatment for this disease. The names of those who thank PER-UNA for their health, their life, is Legion. Here is a letter from one of them, Miss Rose Farr, 1010 W. Illinois street, Evansville, Indiana: "I had a very bad case of Influenza. My nose and throat were in an awful condition. The medicine of two doctors did not help me. I was advised to use PER-UNA. Today I am a well woman and feeling fine. Thanks to PER-UNA. It is fine for Catarrh, La Grippe or Influenza."

Miss Farr escaped the penalty, so can you. PER-UNA comes in tablet or liquid form. Sold Everywhere.

Hogs Contract Colds and Pneumonia—Caution Urged

Trouble often develops among hogs at this season of the year in the form of cold and pneumonia, according to Dr. Robert Graham, professor of animal pathology at the University of Illinois. Doctor Graham gives warning that when pigs of all ages and sizes are allowed to pile up at night in a warm shed some are likely to come out steaming in the morning and that the cold winds and frosty atmosphere will have a bad effect on them.

He recommends the following precautions: Hog houses and feeding places, runways, fences and sheds, should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with a 3 per cent water solution of compound of cresol (U. S. P.) or its recognized equivalent. Quicklime should be scattered freely about the lots, after they have been raked clean of cobs and manure. Wallows should be drained and fenced off, all small holes filled and large fields where the infection prevails should be cultivated.

Arizona Is Cleaning Out Beasts Which Kill Stock

One of the efforts of the state government of Arizona and the federal government in their campaign for the eradication of predatory animals, which cause large losses in range stock, is the employment of skilled hunters. Thirteen are now in the employ of the state and federal governments. Other men are exterminating rodents which destroy ranges. One of the hunters within two months killed 11 mountain lions. Another killed 55 coyotes within a month.

Chinese Children Sold as Low as Twenty-Five Cents
—Markets Found in Cities

China's appalling poverty is traditional. The average man and woman goes through life with only an occasional relief from the pangs of hunger, says Frederick Moore in World's Work. Tens of thousands of people die annually from starvation. Mothers in the poorer sections of every town and village destroy female babies because they are unable to feed them. Sometimes the parents sell them into slavery or dishonor. In times of drought and famine a regular traffic is conducted in children generally by boat along the canals and rivers. The price goes at times as low as 25 cents for a healthy child, nothing being paid for a sickly one. Under ordinary conditions a strong young girl will bring anywhere from ten to a hundred dollars or more. In ordinary times a regular practice of stealing children prevails in some regions. They are conveyed, generally in boats, to the large cities and sold privately.

QUOTAS OF LOAN WILL DEPEND ON WAR STAMP SALES

Oversubscriptions of January and February Savings Cam- paign Allotments to Re- duce Loan Task

Victory Liberty Loan quotas of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District are to be determined in some measure by the amounts loaned, the government by each district in War Savings Stamps during January and February. If a district oversubscribes its War Savings Stamp quotas for the first two months of the year, its Victory Liberty Loan quota will be decreased to the extent of the oversubscription. Conversely, if a district fails to reach its January and February Stamp quotas, its Liberty Loan quota will be increased.

When Lewis B. Franklin, director of the War Loan Organization, was in San Francisco recently, he revealed that on the day the armistice was signed there was in progress in Washington a meeting to formulate plans for the continuous sale of Liberty Bonds—such a plan as governs the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps. Moreover, the Liberty Bond and War Stamps work was to be closely coordinated.

These plans were immediately discarded when the Germans signed the armistice and when Secretary of the Treasury Glass took office he announced that the Victory Liberty Loan would be the last. In the face of suggestions that the Victory Loan be put on a cold commercial basis, he added that the men making these suggestions were discounting the patriotism of the American people and he would depend upon the patriotism of the American people rather than place securities of the United States government upon a plane with the paper of private corporations.

Better have the bonds of the United States in the hands of 30,000,000 ordinary citizens than concentrated in the hands of a few rich men. Think of that when Uncle Sam offers you a Victory Liberty Bond.

The $100 you put into a Victory Liberty Bond will be worth $125 plus interest when prices settle down. A dollar is worth what you can buy with it.

The banks used to buy United States bonds bearing 2 per cent interest before the war. That's how good the credit of the United States is.

Frances Willard's Heavenly Birthday.

Standing beside the bier of Frances Willard Mrs. Clara Hoffman, in tender words said "Frances Willard is no longer the 'uncrowned queen of America,' but a crowned queen in heaven. Manhood is nobler, womanhood truer childhood safer because Francis Willard has lived.

Dr. Milton S. Perry, of Garrett Bible Institute contributed the following poem:

TRANSFIGURED.
Is that soft light a star?
Or through the dimness of our tearful eyes
Are we desecrating in the open skies
Some lovelier sight afar?
Perhaps to us is given
Another vision of that wondrous sign
Revealed of old to St. John, the divine
When in the open heaven
By angel guarded round,
Was seen a woman with the sun arrayed,
The moon beneath her feet, and her fair head
With twelve stars brightly crowned.
I'm sure I see a light
That beacons many to a holier sphere,
And with its steady shining calm
and clear
There seems to be no night.
'Tis the transfigured face
Of saintly gifted prophetess serene,
Whose woman-soul could take of things unseen
And give them sightly grace.
To her God's love assigned,
Amid the rush of human cares and fears,
Nigh threescore beautiful and hal-
lowed years
To honor womankind.
Say not "She is not here";
Methinks her eyes beam with a brighter ray,
And never mightier, sweeter than today
Was her voice far or near.
And woman's rights and wrongs,
And mortal sorrows, and the drunk-
ard's woes,
And virtue's claims, by her life's sudden close
Have found ten thousand tongues.
Hushed are all envies now,
Nor breathes the soul would take away from sight
One ray of the aureole of light
That gather round her brow.
O pure white life divine!
Translated into everlasting day
Thou shalt pass never from our hearts away,
For Christ's own love were thine.

ARMENIAN BIBLE SAID TO BE 1,500 YEARS OLD.

Bremerton, Washington, Feb. 11. — A Bible, estimated by authority to be 1,500 years old, worn by the touch of devout hands through all these years, yet clear and legible, has come into the hands of the Rev. George E. Atkinson, Secretary here for the industrial Y. M. C. A.

The Bible was used in an Armenian monastery. The pages of the volume are of papyrus, and it is bound in leather.

Robert E. Olds, Red Cross Commissioner For Europe.

Robert E. Olds of St Paul has been appointed Red Cross commissioner for Europe, to carry our Red Cross Post war activities in all European countries, according to an announcement in Red Cross bulletin, official organ of the American organization, published in Washington.

Mr. Olds' position is newly created, and the work under his personal direction will supplant that of the commission to Europe, an organization established last November to consider and advise the war council regarding all policies affecting the American Red Cross overseas. The St Paul man was a pioneer member of this commission.

In his new position Mr. Olds bears the assimilated title of lieutenant colonel. Colonel Olds is regarded as the ablest man obtainable to direct the American Red Cross work in its lines of future operations. The announcement says: "He has had experience in France under Major Murphy, Major Perkins and Colonel Gibson, and is thoroughly acquainted with all the details of relief work which has centered there during the war."

Permanent Headquarters for the new commission are to be maintained in Paris and the work for the whole of Europe and the balkans hereafter will be directed from the Capitol. In past time all requisitions have been forwarded to Washington but hereafter they will be handled direct from Paris office under Mr. Olds' direction.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Those of his St. Paul friends who are familiar with him as a man and boy in this city, will readily believe that the Red Cross has made no mistake in the special distinction it has conferred upon Robert E. Olds.—Pioneer Press Feb. 8.

Mr. Robert E. Olds is a son of Mrs. Lillian Olds of Campbell. The Press offers congratulations to the proud and happy mother.

"THE CONSTITUTION OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND ITS FATUOUS CRITICS."

"Therefore considered coolly, and in the light of history, the whole conception, scheme and detail of the new League of Nations is too grotesque to admit of fair discussion."

The above is the startling conclusion to one of the most astonishingly pieces of editorial writing it has been our misfortune to read in these days of uncertainty, anxiety and great hopes. Of course, if the writer feels that way, we shall have to pardon the utter lack of "fair discussion" which characterizes the editorial attitude of his paper toward the proposed League of Nations and the Paris peace conference. But wouldn't it be better to consider the matter coolly, rather than to inflict such feverish effusions on a long-suffering public? It wouldn't sound much worse to be honest and say that because President Wilson is a democrat, an ultra-political republican newspaper had determined to speak no good of him, or of the peace conference in which he is a conspicuous and honored figure, or of the League of Nations for which he has striven so strongly and successfully.

The Constitution of the League of Nations merits cool and unbiased consideration, with frank and fair discussion. Probably it will not prove to be a panacea for all the world's ills. If it contains faults and imperfections it would not be surprising, considering the magnitude of the problems with which it deals. But the personnel of the conference which drafted it represents the best brains in the world, and their conclusions can not wisely be characterized as grotesque or unworthy of fair discussion.

Mrs. Eckles has received a telegram from Mr. Eckles saying he had landed in New York after a ten days voyage. He has started for California and expects to reach here Sunday night.

William Ludwig was shaking hands with Campbell friends Saturday. He had just received his discharge from the Presidio to which he was returned from Camp Lee, Virginia. He was looking fine but glad to be out again.

The Second Quarterly Conference for the year of the Methodist Church met at the M. E. church in Campbell Tuesday evening. Dr. Geo. W. White Superintendent of San Francisco Dist. was present and gave a stirring address.

It was a very happy occasion when Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Merrill entertained their father and mother at a birthday dinner Sunday, it being Mr. Alex Merrill 80th birthday. The table was spread for seven and the birthday cake with its many candles adorned the center of the table. Mr. Merrill is so active, we would call him 80 years young.

The response to the call for Belgian Relief from Campbell was very gratifying. The work of the school children of the grammar grades and the high school was worthy of special mention. The material gathered amounted to two auto loads. The Relief Committee of San Jose wish to express their thanks and appreciation.

Miss Dorothy Ahlsey having had to come home from Mills College with the flu some weeks past, has decided to attend a school closer home and is now attending the Castelejo Private School in Palo Alto as a day pupil and goes back and forth every day.

Mr. N. O. Hultberg who formerly lived at Campbell has sold his ranch at Turlock and returned and rented Miss Lewis' house on north central Avenue where he will move the early part of next week.

Don't think you have sacrificed because you may be paying for your interest-bearing Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds. These fellows back from France legless, armless or sightless don't think they have sacrificed. They simply think they did their duty.

The Victory Loan coming in April is the last Liberty Loan. Then the war is over for you. It will be still going on for 1,000,000 Americans in France.

Hear Dr. Landrith.

Friday, February 28.

Subject: "America Redeemed to be Leader of the World".

This is one of hundreds of NATIONAL-WORLD PROHIBITION RALLIES now being held throughout America.

Uncle Sam who has been a chief factor in helping European and Oriental countries to civil and religious liberty WILL LIKE-WISE HELP them in their struggle for freedom from the curse of strong drink. COME AND HEAR HOW!

Dr. Landrith, a fifty-year old native Texan, was educated in Tennessee, where he lived for thirty years. Typically a Southerner, he says: "I am more an American."

Both a Doctor of Divinity and a Doctor of Laws, he is a graduate of both academic and law schools; was for fourteen years editor of a church newspaper; and for ten years was in educational work as president of Belmont college, Ward Seminary, and the union of the two, Ward-Belmont.

Civically, Dr. Landrith has always stood in Nashville and the South for integrity in politics and against the legalizing of the liquor traffic. He was chairman of the Committee of One Hundred which in 1902-04 cleansed the political life of Nashville; and he had much to do with the ultimate triumph of state-wide Prohibition. He was one of the founders and has long been a member of the State Executive Committee of the Tennessee Anti-Saloon League. He has campaigned every state in the Union for Prohibition.

Dr. Landrith is officially identified with many national and international organizations for the public welfare. He has been president of both the state and the international conventions of the Y. M. C. A.; general secretary of the Presbyterian Men's Brotherhood; general secretary of the National Religious Education Association, and was Moderator of the last general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. For many years he has been a trustee of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and is now Extension Secretary and also Editor Afield of the Christian Endeavor World, with headquarters in Chicago.

Everywhere the newspapers of the country have spoken in the most complimentary terms of Dr. Landrith's platform achievements.

He is an orator in all that oratory implies. He has a rare fund of humor and does not hesitate to use it.

Come and hear him at the M. E. Church in Campbell Friday evening, February 28.

M. E. Church Centenary.

The Columbus Celebration, which will be held at Columbus, Ohio, June 20 to July 7, is one of the outstanding features that mark the year 1919 as the anniversary of one hundred years of Methodist Missionary endeavor, and preparations are being made to entertain the Methodist world there during the eighteen-day Celebration. The Northern and Southern Churches are uniting in this particular feature of the Centenary movement, and the very fact of its magnitude makes the Joint Commission of the Columbus Celebration feel that a Committee on Estimates and Budgets is essential to the general good business of the Celebration.

The Centenary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has for its object two things: First, a revived church as proven by the enlistment of 2,000,000 Methodists in a great league of prayer, and second, a church with sufficient financial resources with which to meet the opportunities and obligations of today. The campaign for two million praying Methodists is now on throughout the length and breadth of the church, and the financial campaign for $35,000,000 will be conducted in an eight-day drive April 27 to May 4.

During the one hundred years just closing the Methodists have grown from a denomination of a few thousand to more than six millions, and from a contribution of $700 in the first year of organization to a contribution of $7,000,000 a year. One of the features of the Centenary will be a financial campaign for $35,000,000 which will be held April 27 to May 4.

The Celebration, which will be held at Columbus, Ohio, June 20 to July 7, is to be on the order of a mammoth World's Fair, and the cost of the seven large buildings, the parking stand for 25,000 automobiles, the auditorium seating 10,000, and the other features of the great Methodist Celebration, will mount up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Mrs. MacDonell, in announcing some of the plans for the Home Missions Exhibit, declared that never before in the history of a denomination had anything been undertaken on such a scale.

Methodists from all over the world will attend the Celebration, which is one of the outstanding features of the Centenary of Methodist Missions. Other features of the Centenary as it relates to the M. E. Church, South, are the drive now on for 2,000,000 intercessors and 1,000,000 tithers in the church, and the financial campaign for $35,000,000 which will be held April 27 to May 4.

There are, doubtless, several hundred thousand Methodists who during these days are focusing their spiritual attention on the financial phase of their relation to the Centenary of Missions. They are regarding themselves as prospective contributors to a great and holy cause which is represented by the Centenary of Missions. They are asking with real interest, mixed more or less with elation and yet with apprehension, the question: "How much should I give during those days in latter April when the grand accounting shall take place?"

Now God will not be satisfied with an idea which makes the child of God a simple contributor of money to his cause and places duty and privilege within the circle of a mere financial gift. Such an idea has locked up within itself fearful potentialities which even a certain superficial success in the Centenary campaign may change into dread realities. The circle of duty and privilege is vastly larger than that which incloses a financial gift. The idea of a contribution must swell into the idea of service.

The Ad and The Man

He saw an ad from day to day
And muttered "I defy it;
Their stuff may be just what they say,
But I'm not going to buy it;
As time wore on he made remarks
It would not do to mention,
For he was mad because that ad
Was forced on his attention.

But in a week or two or three,
He said; There's no denying
The way that ad gets hold of me—
The stuff may be worth trying."

For just about a fortnight more
He dared mere words to win him,
And then the ad completely had
Aroused the spender in him,
Next day he drifted in a store
And quietly expended
A few big iron dollars for
The stuff the ad commended.

He found it filled a long-felt need;
Its excellence surprised him,
And now he's glad because the ad
So deftly hypnotized him.

"Land of Lanterns."

Among the Chinese there has existed for ages a passion for fireworks and lanterns. In every city, at every port and on every river and canal, as soon as night comes on, the lanterns make their appearance. They are hung out at the door of every dwelling; they swing as pendants to the angles of the pagoda; they form the fiery crown of every shop front; they cluster round the houses of the rich and light up the hovels of the poor; they are borne with the carriage of the traveler, and they swing from the yards and masts of his vessel.
